

SOLDIER SPEAKING SQUAD WILL BOOST THE VICTORY LOAN

Lieutenant John L. Robinson, Company D, Will Be in Charge of the "Boys."

WILL TELL OF THE FRONT

Rich Stories of the Battle Areas to be Features of the Final War Drive in the County; County Organization Is Pleased With Local Situation.

The force of the spoken word will be used more extensively in the Victory Liberty loan campaign opening next Monday than in any previous war activities campaign. Wooda N. Carr, chairman of the county public speakers' bureau, has been enlisted in the campaign and is now perfecting a speaking program which contemplates Victory Bond rallies in every community in the county.

A distinct feature will be the "soldier speaking squad" which will tour the county under the direction of Lieutenant John L. Robinson of Company D, 110th Infantry. Lieutenant Robinson is now quartered at Parkview hospital, Pittsburgh, for treatment of wounds received in action with his company but has made arrangements for release during the Victory campaign.

Services of returned overseas men will be enlisted by Lieutenant Robinson for the squad and their talks, rich in adventure of the fighting front, are expected to draw wide-spread attention. The men will be asked to tell in their own "languages" experiences of overseas army life and America's aim in the war from the soldier's viewpoint.

Announcement of the terms of the Victory Liberty Loan with its sales substantially reduced, has shown a marked tendency towards arousing enthusiasm over the forthcoming campaign and creating a feeling of confidence among the workers. The county and district quotas when completed will show a substantial reduction over those for the Fourth Liberty Loan, the county's greatest financial war effort.

Particularly gratifying to county headquarters is the acceptance of Robert Norris to continue as chairman of the Connellsville district in the final loan campaign. Mr. Norris for a time considered retiring from the campaign organization but loan officials considered it little more than disastrous to create a breach in the well nigh perfect campaign organization. Mr. Norris had perfected for war activities in the Youth City. At the earnest solicitation of county loan officials as well as from other leaders of the Connellsville organization Mr. Norris consented to conduct the final campaign.

A PERMANENT STEEL ARCH AS MEMORIAL TO SERVICE MEN AND WOMEN PROPOSED

At its weekly meeting this evening the central committee for the soldiers' home-coming celebration may be asked to consider a steel arch of court of honor instead of the wooden structure proposed at the last meeting to honor the service men and women.

Substitution of steel and the erection of a permanent arch at some central point, Brimstone Corner being mentioned, was proposed in council last evening by the mayor who said the cost of steel would not be greater, perhaps not as great, as a cumbersome wooden structure which would be torn away. Members of council agreed with the executive and it was suggested that the matter be brought to the attention of the central committee.

A steel arch, it was suggested, might be appropriately decorated for the home-coming and permanently adorned by electric lights. Plans, it was felt, should be submitted to council for approval.

Another suggestion mentioned in council as coming from high school students related to a mummery's parade for the celebration. This also will be called to the attention of the central committee.

COUNCIL SOLICITS BIDS FOR PAVING OF FOUR STREETS

Action Taken Last Night in Response to Trades Council's Petition.

Financing East Park Project Made Possible By Transfer of $4,000 From One Fund to Another; Agreement to Be Signed; Other Street Matters.

In response to the appeal of the Central Trades & Labor Council for inauguration of a program of public improvements to assist in solving the problem of unemployment in the city, council last night authorized the purchasing agent to receive bids for the grading, curbing and paving of Murray avenue from Cottage avenue to Crawford avenue, Chestnut street, Davidson avenue and Seventh street, West Side, from Crawford avenue to the plant of the Connellsville Silk company. The last named piece of work was included following the reading of a communication from the silk company urging that it be undertaken for the purpose of affording an outlet to their product.

Bids for all these projects are to be in the hands of the purchasing agent by the evening of May 12, the next regular meeting of council. How far the work will be carried will depend on the cost of brick. Prices secured by Superintendent B. L. Berg of the Street Department ranged from $25.50 to $35.50 delivered in Connellsville. It is hoped that by the time the preliminary work is done prices will have dropped to some extent.

In connection with the passage of a resolution authorizing the superintendent of Accounts and Finance to execute an agreement for the construction of the concrete arch over Canell run under the East Park viaduct with J. Alfred DePolo and Louis Costa, an ordinance was introduced providing for the transfer from the general contingent fund to the street improvement fund the sum of $4,000 to cover the deficiency in the appropriation for the arch, the contract price of which is $13,354.05. The work will now be started.

On petition of James H. Cauley council authorized Superintendent B. L. Berg of the street department to serve notice that Mrs. Robert Sechrist to remove within five days a fence recently placed across an alley between East Fairview avenue and South street. Mr. Cauley said the alley had been open for 47 years and that the turn into it from Fairview avenue had been paved for 25 years. The Fayette Mine Car company asked permission to lay two tracks across Gibson avenue between its shops and lumber yard at the old plant of the Fayette Lumber company. Permission could not be formally granted, the representative was told, but no objection would be raised, it was said, to the work being done, provided the rails be down to grade and the track properly planned. The street is little used.

Superintendent Berg was directed to confer with the Pennsylvania Railroad company relative to the construction of a crossing over the "long siding" at the lower end of York avenue.

After he had made a complete confession, sworn to before Alderman Fred Nunk, of attempting to criminally assault Miss Pearl Inman, operator for the Pennsylvania Railroad company in the basement of DB tower along the Pennsylvania railroad north of Dunbar yesterday morning, George Wilson, said to be from Pittsburg, was hurried to jail in Uniontown, rumors having reached the officers here that an attempt would be made "by railroad men" to forcibly remove the prisoner from the lockup. He was taken to Uniontown on the 3.06 Pennsylvania train by Special Officer J. H. Detemple who was joined on the train by another officer from the Pittsburg district who had come to assist in running down the culprit.

The confession was made first to Patrolman David H. Turner in a cell at the police station, after Wilson had been taken to the Cottage State hospital by Chief of Police W. J. Bowser where Miss Inman positively identified him. Later his confession was put into writing and sworn to before the alderman.

According to his story to Turner the attack was made in the basement of the tower. Wilson said he had been employed at Coalpicking and had lost his job. He was on his way to Pittsburg, he said, and was walking to Connellsville. He walked ahead of the train.

TRAVEL OVER CROSSINGS WILL BE STUDIED AS STEP TOWARD SECURING GATES

In order to determine the need of safety gates on the principal Pennsylvania railroad crossings in the city council will, through Superintendent B. L. Berg of the Department of Streets, place competent persons at the crossings for which protection of vehicles and pedestrians passing over them daily. This was decided upon by council last night as the initial move toward securing safety gates or watchmen. The evidence is required by the Public Service Commission before which the appeal for protection must be carried.

The crossings discussed were Crawford avenue, West Side, North Pittsburg street, Fayette street and Eighth street near Davidson. It is proposed to put men at the crossings two days a week for two or three weeks. Just what days and what hours will be determined at a conference with Solicitor E. C. Higbee, from 9 in the morning to 9 at night was suggested as the period of heaviest travel. According to the plan the crossings will be studied two days one week, two other days the second week and still others the final week. When the rate is assembled and sworn to by the persons employed for the purpose the city will be ready to go before the commission with its demand for protection.

DESMONE BACKS UP CLAIMS FOR LARGER FORCE OF POLICE

Disorder on Streets Is Attributed to Inadequate Protection.

MAYOR BLAMES PEOPLE

Executive Assents Failure of Persons Insulted by Hoodlums to Appeal Against Them Makes Apprehension and Punishment Very Difficult.

As emphasizing the need of additional police protection, Mayor Desmone backed up his statements at a former meeting of council to the solons last night by presenting evidence of immoral practices within a dozen yards of Brimstone corner, also of "sham battles" in the north end of town and activities of negro undisciplinables. "We'll take the matter up," said the mayor, following the hearing of testimony. Nothing was done at the meeting and the matter was not mentioned afterward.

Paul T. McDonald was the witness in support of the charges of Mr. Desmone. Mr. McDonald said the scene of the immoral conduct referred to was the entrance to his store in North Pittsburgh street, just below Brimstone corner. Mr. McDonald and Gus Marakas were eye witnesses, he said. That a man "tackled" six girls and women one night between Brimstone corner and Apple street was a statement of Mr. McDonald. He said he looked for a policeman to call his attention to the matter but could find none. He had no complaint to make about the officers, saying the limited number, so far as he knew, were doing all they could. There are young men, he said, who loiter about the streets nights, from 10:30 to 1 o'clock, who are "10 times worse" than the girl street walkers and who do not hesitate to insult women.

Discussion pro and con developed that while these things have come to the attention of the officers the persons insulted decline to appear against them.

Specific complaints mentioned by Mr. Desmone other than the above, were shooting at mark by negroes in the North End and the attempt of a negro and a negro to work a holdup game a recent midnight in North Pittsburgh street, with a traveling salesman as the intended victim. Mr. Desmone was on his way to work and watched developments, intending to go to the aid of the man.

The salesman, who said he was taking a walk before retiring, according to Mr. Desmone, was pronounced very indiscreet by the mayor. Had there not been the two of them they would undoubtedly have fallen victims of the black couple, Mr. Desmone declared. Plain clothes men were demanded by Mr. Desmone.

The Henry Kronick case, wherein Mr. Kronick, an East Crawford avenue confectioner, was charged with operating a gambling device, was quickly disposed of. Attorney S. R. Goldsmith appeared for the defendant. The mayor said he had investigated the case and found there was "nothing to it" and discharged Kronick. The latter insisted that it was a cheating gum machine he had in use. When J. M. Keane, the informant, requested the mayor to ask Kronick if he did not have a punch board Kronick replied in the affirmative but both he and the mayor said it had been removed during the crusade of the last few days.

FULL CONFESSION MADE TO ATTACK ON PEARL INMAN

of Miss Inman down the track from Dunbar. Apparently she did not see him or did not follow his movements closely. Arriving at the tower Wilson entered the toilet room, in a separate building. From there he watched Miss Inman as she approached the tower. According to his story she walked to a spot where a bucket stood and lifted it, apparently in search for a key to the tower. Not finding the key she searched about, found a hammer and forced open the door to the basement of the tower. It was while she was in there, at the telephone, that Wilson left his place of concealment and entered the tower basement. When the girl spotted him she proposed to grapple with her and it was only the brave girl she made that prevented his accomplishing his purpose.

According to Wilson, Miss Inman was at the telephone again, frantically calling for help when he left the scene. He came on to Conneltsville and was loitering about Davidson works when word was telephoned to the police station that a suspect was there and he was arrested by Police- man P. M. Rulli early yesterday afternoon.

Wilson gave his age as 34 years. He could not tell the officer where he lived in Pittsburgh but maintained that was his home. At first he denied any knowledge of the attack, even after the girl had positively identified him. For almost an hour Patrolman Turner plied him with questions, finally getting him to admit the whole story.

The attack happened just about daybreak, Wilson said.

At the county jail Wilson said he had served four months with the 20th Engineers at a training camp, being discharged last December. Previously he had been two years in the Navy. He was last employed with J. F. Robbins of Pittsburgh on a road contract at Coalingburg. His mother lives in Pittsburgh, he said, but he declined to give her address.

At the hospital today it was said Miss Inman's condition was good. She is still in bed. It was not known when she would be able to leave.

SALTS IF BACKACHE AND KIDNEYS HURT

Stop Eating Meat for a While if Your Bladder is Troubling
You.

When you wake up with headache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy.
When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells;
your stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts;
take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine.
This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.
Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effe-rescent lithia-water drink.—Adv.

THE PARAMOUNT.

"A GENTLEMAN OF QUALITY"—stripping drama of mystery, love and identity, with Earle Williams as a leading role, is being presented today. Mr. Williams is seen in the role of a young American who has at all times a haunting fear that the accident and is claimed by a titled English woman whose husband mysteriously vanished on their wedding night. The plot centers about an amazing case of amnesia, giving Mr. Williams one of the strongest roles in his career in this gripping between love and honor, for although he does not know who he is, he feels that he is usurping the happiness that by right belongs to another, and there is all times a haunting fear that the real husband may return. Mr. Williams is supported by Katherine Dams, Joyce Moore, James Carpenter and others. A selected comedy is so being shown, "The Wicked Darling," starring Priscilla Dean in a delightful role, will be presented tomorrow. Thursday June Elvidge supported by Frank Mayo, Madge Evans and here will be shown in "The Love Defender," the story of a young married couple and another woman who seeks to lure the husband away.

THE SOISSON.

"LES MISERABLES"—A William Fox production starring William Farnum, the celebrated screen actor, is being shown today. The picture is one of the best in which Mr. Farnum has ever appeared and is one that will appeal to all admirers of the popular star. Mr. Farnum is supported by an excellent cast. A selected comedy is also being shown tomorrow and Thursday Peggy Hyland, the famous Fox star, will be presented in "The Rebellious Bride," a picture appealing largely to young people. The story is full of good things, but the best is the quality of the story in which the juveniles find themselves carried before they are acquainted and love grows as natural and as sure as a flower. The love-making of Cynthia and Arthur, played by Miss Hyland and 'Pell Trenton, stranded sailors, who is compelled to marry or at the point of her granddaddy's, is free from a self-consciousness and has a delightful flavor. "Granddaddy" the pivotal character and is played by George Nichols. Friday and Saturday Robert Warwick will be shown in "The Accidental Housewife."

THE ARCADE.

"WORRELL'S VIRGINIA BELLES"—Another record breaker is appearing at the Arcade this week, and again from Monday's performances going to please the patrons for the week. The show is replete with all live comedy from start to finish, and it is doubtful if there has been as much action in any three shows as there is in this one. The stars of the show are "Gee Wilkie." Hay while laying the part of an old seedy moonshiner, leaves much doubt in our minds as to whether the Blue Ridge mountains ever saw a spryer. Hay is old wife played by Miss Hay, shows them all up when it comes to action, especially with both ends of broom, one end on the floor and the other on her husband's head. To fully appreciate the merits of the company will be necessary to see it. Wednesday there will be a complete range of program, in which the Virginia Belles will present that rippling musical comedy, "Tennessee Tangle." More fun. And as a real hotopay production there will be offered the 12th episode of the "Iron test," featuring Antonio Moreno.

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS MAY BE OVERCOME.

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or a even just a little hard of hearing or have head noises go to your druggist and get a course of Parmit (double strength), and add to it 1/4 pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar each 1 tablespoonful four times a day. This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucous stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone losing hearing or who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

Transformation.

YOU MEN WHO PAY THE FAMILY SHOE BILLS

Tramping 18 miles a day, Mr. H. M. Foreman, a mail carrier of Allentown, Pa., found that shoes with ordinary soles last about one month. But he says a pair of Neolin-soled shoes gave him more than nine months of service, in which time he walked over 4,000 miles. His experience shows how you may save shoe money by providing your family with Neolin-soled shoes, which give extra wear where other shoes wear out quickly. You can get Neolin-soled shoes in any type of shoe you want. Prices are about the same as for shoes that give only ordinary wear, sometimes they are even less. If your dealer hasn't the style you want, he can get it for you quickly. Remember, Neolin Soles are created by science to be what shoes should be. They are available everywhere for re-soles as well as on new shoes. They are made by The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company, Akron, Ohio, who also make Wingfoot Heels—guaranteed to outwear any other heels.

For Constipation! Physic Purge or Laxative?

Everyone now and then becomes constipated, and millions are chronically in that condition. The perplexing question arises—what to use.

Purgatives and cathartics are drastic and usually cause a reaction. Saline waters are rapid in action but do no more than empty the bowels.

Just as certain an effect, and certainly a much more pleasant one, can be obtained by the use of a combination of simple laxative herbs with peppermint sold by druggists under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It acts gently, without griping. It is an especially ideal medicine for children, women, old people and others who find purges too powerful.

Only a teaspoonful is required, and by morning the movement is free and complete. A bottle in the house is insurance for the whole family against constipation, indigestion, headaches, flatulency and other digestive ills.

The druggist will refund your money if it fails to do as promised.

PRICE AS ALWAYS

In case of greatly increased laboratory costs due to the war, by increasing profits and absorbing all war taxes, we have managed to keep the price at which this family favorite has been sold by druggists for the past 25 years. Two sizes—50c and $1.00.

Worn Out Women

Many Women Feel Tired All The Time And Sleep Fails To Refresh Them.

They feel languid, faint and weak especially in the morning, the appetite becomes variable, digestion impaired, they often have headache and pain in the back, hips and loins, cold hands and feet. The blood becomes thin and watery, the nerves lacking in strength, the complexion sallow, the cheeks sunken, the bust flattened and reduced and the disposition irritable and nervous. The purpose of Dr. Chase's Blood and Nerve Tablets is to build up the blood and strengthen the nerves. Your complexion will be improved, the weak parts made strong and life becomes a joy instead of daily misery. Try them today and see how much better you will feel and look. Weigh yourself before taking them. Sold by Druggists at 50 cents. Special, (Stronger more Active) 90 cents.

THE SMALLEST EYE DEFLECT

Can and does in a large number of cases cause a lot of trouble. The eye itself is often not the seat of the complaint at all. Through the nervous system headaches arise, and nervousness, and the pains here and there in the body, difficult digestion and other annoyances. These all vanish almost at once when the eyes have had proper attention. Do YOU need eye help? Interview us and learn the facts.

CRUSADE AT MOUNT PLEASANT TO PUT AN END TO CRIME WAVE

Drastic Steps Will be Taken, Following Latest Killing.

BURGESS IS INVESTIGATING

Executive Visits Hospital and Has Talk With Patsy Seleppa Who on Sunday Night Shot and Killed Mike Miele; Third Man Is Still Free.

Special to The Courier.
MT. PLEASANT, April 16—There were no developments today, so far as was announced, to disclose events leading up to the killing in a street here Sunday night of Mike Miele, an Italian, by Patsy Seleppa, who was cut by one of three assailants and is now in the hospital.

Burgess S. P. Stevens said today that the police department would take drastic steps to bring to law and order the persons who are making the community the murderous place it has been recently. Last evening Burgess Stevens went to the hospital to get a story from Patsy Seleppa, known as Patsy Slate. Patsy told the burgess he was in the Santora home along the alley leading onto Diamond street, and was called out by the three men, among them Miele, who made an effort to cut him and whom he shot, and Joe Chorrapp, Slate's brother-in-law from Norewood street, who accomplished the cutting as Patsy worked one arm loose and shot Miele. The third man Patsy stated ran. He was unable to see who he was.

Under arrest and held in the lockup, to be sent to Greensburg or released on a $1,000 bail bond, is Chorrapp. In the crowd was Ben Dellesio. As he was acting suspiciously he was arrested and a .32 calibre revolver was found in his coat pocket. He was released yesterday on $300 bail.

The body of Miele was removed to the Sam Deluka home on Morewood street where he boarded for the past eight years. This afternoon it was taken to the Italian church where funeral services were held. Burial followed in St. Joseph's cemetery.

Home-Coming Meeting Tonight.
A mass meeting will be held at the borough building this evening to make further arrangements for the home-coming of Company E, 110th Infantry.

Forming Alumni Association.
At a meeting of the Mt. Pleasant teachers, called last evening by Prof. H. DeLong steps were taken toward organizing a High school alumni association. Miss Adelaide Ramsey acted as temporary chairman. A second committee of Misses O. S. Stoner, Edith Zundell, Ruth Fox, Susan Overly and Mrs. William Stevenson was appointed. The committee desires suggestions for organizing and any of the alumni with points to present are urged to send them to one of the committee. A banquet to be held in the near future is being planned. A nominating committee was also appointed.

BUTTERMILK CREATES BEAUTY OVERNIGHT

Delightful New Tanning Cream Contains True Buttermilk Makes You Look Years Younger or Money Back.
The first application of Howard's Buttermilk Cream will astonish you. It creates beauty almost like magic, but the most wonderful thing about it is the fact that whilst it turns the dull and most lifeless complexion to radiant beauty and makes red or rough arms snowy white, yet there is not the slightest sign of its use after application. It actually vanishes from sight and the most heated atmosphere will not produce the least shininess or greasiness of the skin.
There is no secret about it; nor is there any doubt about the result—it's just common ordinary Buttermilk in the form of a wonderful cream gently massaged with the finger tips around the corners of the eyes and mouth.
To prove this to your complete satisfaction obtain a small quantity of Howard's Buttermilk Cream at C. Roy Hartzel or the Connellsville Drug Co. on the money back if dissatisfied plan. The directions are simple and it costs so little that any girl or woman can afford it.

Make This Test For Acid-Stomach

There are millions of people who suffer almost daily from the horrors of an acid-stomach—indigestion, sour, gassy, stomach, distressing heartburn, sickening food-repeating, painful bloating and that miserable, puffed up, lumpy feeling after eating. Many of these people have tried treatment after treatment; medicine after medicine; others have gone to doctors and stomach specialists and some to hospitals but in spite of all their efforts they have obtained no lasting relief or a permanent cure.
These symptoms simply mean acid-stomach. If allowed to run on, they are very likely to cause a lot of serious trouble. Dyspepsia, rheumatism, gout, lumbago, sciatica, splitting headache, dizzy spells, nervousness, sleeplessness, mental depression, melancholia, a feeling of listlessness and all-goneness—these are just a few of the disorders which can be traced to acid-stomach. As a matter of fact, acid-stomach is often the direct cause of those almost incurable conditions known as catarrh of the stomach, intestinal ulcer, and cancer of the stomach. The lives of those who suffer from these serious troubles are nothing short of agony. Surely, then, you must see how important it is to get once to the seat of the trouble—acid-stomach. You know what acid-

Compassion Always Proves You'll Do Better at

The Rapport-Featherman Co.

Connellsville's Most Dependable Furniture Store

"Since the invasion and overthrow of her country by the Teutonic allies she has been endeavoring to raise money here for the purpose of equipping and supporting the remnants of the small army that fought so valiantly in defense of the crown. These men, a few thousand only, are at present interned in a neutral country. I leave you to guess what will happen if she succeeds in supplying them with arms and ammunition. Her work is being carried on with the greatest secrecy. To bring the story to a close, I was instructed to keep close watch on the man O'Dowd. I traced him to this place. I was on the point of reporting to my superiors that he was in no way associated with the much-sought-after crown coin, and that Green Fancy was as free from taint as the village chapel, when out of a clear sky and almost under my very nose two men were mysteriously done away with at the very gates of the place. The killing of those two men changed the aspect completely. You will certainly agree with me after I have explained to you that the one known as Andrew Reon was no other than the quarry who had undertaken to find the young woman."

Barnes drew a long breath. His mind was made up. He had decided to pool issues with the secret agent, but not until he was convinced that the result of their co-operation would be no way injurious to the young woman, who, had appealed to him for help. He was certain that she was the fair propagandist described by Spruise.

"And the young woman—what of her? She would, in any case, be held for examination and—"

"My dear sir, I may as well tell you now that she is a loyal subject, and far from being in bad grace at court, is an object of extreme solicitude to the ambassador. From what I can gather she has disappeared completely. Reon was sent over here for the sole purpose of finding her and inducing her to return with him to Paris."

"And to take the treasure with her, I suppose," said Barnes dryly.

"Naturally."

"Well," began Barnes, introducing a harsh note into his voice. "I should say that if she is guilty of receiving this stolen property she ought to be punished. Jail is the place for her, Mr. Spruise."

Spruise put down his coffee cup rather suddenly. A queer pallor came into his face.

"You do not understand the situation. Haven't I made it plain to you that she is innocent of any intent to do wrong?"

"You have said so, Mr. Spruise, but your idea of wrong and mine may not be the same."

"There cannot be two ways of looking at it, sir," said Spruise, after a moment. "She could do no wrong."

Whereupon Barnes reached his hand across the table and laid it on Spruise's. His eyes were dancing.

"That's just what I want to be sure about," he said. "It was my way of finding out your intentions concerning her."

"What do you mean?"

"Come with me to my room," said Barnes, suppressing his excitement. "I think I can tell you where she is—and a great deal more that you ought to know."

In the little room upstairs he told the whole story. The little man listened without so much as a single word of interruption or interrogation. Somewhat breathlessly Barnes came to the end.

"And now, Mr. Spruise, what do you make of it?" he inquired.

Spruise leaned back in his chair, suddenly relaxing. "I am completely at sea," he said, and Barnes looked at him in surprise.

"By Jove, I thought it would all be as clear as day to you. Here is your man and also your woman, and the traveling bag full of—"

"Right you are," interrupted Spruise. "That is all simple enough. But, my dear Barnes, can you tell me what Mr. Secretary Loe's real name is? Why has he established himself so close to the Canadian line, and why the mobilization? I refer to his army of banksters."

"He's apparently usually have some sort of a bodyguard, don't they?"

Spruise was staring thoughtfully at the ceiling. When he finally lowered his eyes it was to favor Barnes with a deep, inscrutable smile.

"I dare say the first thing for me to do is to advise the Canadian authorities to keep a sharp lookout along the border."

CHAPTER XII

The First Wayfarer Accepts an Invitation.

Barnes insisted that the first thing to be considered was the release of Miss Cameron.

"I can't think of any other way to get her out of this devilish predicament, Spruise. I shall apply to Washington for help."

"And be laughed at, my friend," said the secret agent. "It is not a matter for the government to meddle in at all."

"Well, something has to be done at once," said Barnes doggedly. "She is depending on me. If you could have seen the light that leaped into her glorious eyes when I—"

"Yes, I know. I've heard she is quite a pretty girl. You needn't—"

"Quite a pretty girl!" exclaimed Barnes. "Why, she is the loveliest thing that God ever created. She has the face of—"

"I am beginning to understand O'Dowd's interest in her, Mr. Barnes. He has probably fallen in love with her with as little difficulty as you have experienced, and almost as expeditiously. He has seen a little more of her than you, but—"

"Don't talk nonsense. I'm not in love with her."

"Can you speak with equal authority for Mr. O'Dowd? He is a very susceptible Irishman, I am told."

"I don't believe he will get much encouragement from her, Mr. Spruise," said Barnes stiffly.

"If she is as clever as I think she is she will encourage him tremendously. I would if I were in her place. Mr. O'Dowd is only human. He isn't immune."

"I catch the point, Mr. Spruise," said Barnes, rather gloomily. He did not like to think of the methods that might have to be employed in the subjugation of Mr. O'Dowd. "There is a rather important question I'd like to ask. Is she even remotely eligible to her country's throne?"

"Remotely, yes," said Spruise. "So remotely that she could marry a chap like O'Dowd without giving much thought to future complications?" he ventured.

"She'd be just as safe in marrying O'Dowd as she would in marrying you," was Spruise's unsatisfactory response. The man's brow was wrinkled in thought. "See here, Mr. Barnes, I am planning a visit to Green Fancy tonight. How would you like to accompany me?"

"I'd like nothing better," said Barnes, with enthusiasm.

"Will you agree to obey instructions? I can't have you muddling things up, you know."

"The grounds are carefully guarded," said Barnes, after they had discussed the project for some time. "Miss Cameron is constantly under the watchful eye of one or more of the crowd."

"I know. I passed a couple of them last night," said Spruise calmly. "By the way, don't you think it would be very polite of you to invite the Green Fancy party over here to have an old-fashioned country dinner with you tonight?"

"It would be useless, Mr. Spruise. They will not come."

"I am perfectly aware of that, but it won't do any harm to ask them, will it?"

Barnes chuckled. "I see. Establishing myself as an innocent bystander, eh?"

"Get O'Dowd on the telephone and ask him if they can come," said Spruise.

"But there is Jones to consider. The telephone is in his office. What will he think?"

"Jones is all right," said Spruise briefly. "Come along. You can call up from my room." He grinned slyly. "Such a thing as tapping the wire, you know."

Spruise had installed a telephone in his room, carrying a wire upstairs from an attachment made in the cellar of the Tavern. He closed the door to his little room on the top floor.

"With the landlord's approval," he explained, pointing to the instrument, "but unknown to the telephone company, you may be sure. Call him up about half past ten. O'Dowd may be up at this unholy hour, but not she. Now I must be off to discuss literature with Mrs. Jim Conley. The hardest part of my job is to keep her from subscribing for a set of Dickens. Conley's house is not far from Green Fancy Savvy?"

Barnes, left to his own devices, wandered from taproom to porch, from porch to forge, from forge to taproom, his brain far more active than his legs, his heart as heavy as lead and as light as air by turns. More than once he felt like resorting to a well-known expedient to determine whether he was awake or dreaming. Could all this be real?

Ten minutes later he was in Spruise's room, calling for Green Fancy over an extension wire that had cost the company nothing and yielded nothing in return. After some delay O'Dowd's mellow voice sang out:

"Hello! How are you this morning?"

"Grievously lonesome," replied Barnes, and wound up a doleful account of himself by imploring O'Dowd to save his life by bringing the entire Green Fancy party over to dinner that night.

O'Dowd was heart-broken. Personally he would go to any extreme to save so valuable a life, but as for the rest of the party, they begged him to say they were sorry to hear of the expected death of so promising a chap and that, while they couldn't come to his party, they would be delighted to come to his funeral. In short, it would be impossible for them to accept his kind invitation. The Irishman was so gay and good humored that Barnes took hope.

"By the way, O'Dowd, I'd like to speak with Miss Cameron if she can come to the telephone."

"Don't be surprised if you are cut off suddenly. The coast is clear for the moment, but—Here, Miss Cameron. Careful now."

Her voice, soft and clear and trembling with eagerness, caressed Barnes' eager ear.

"Mr. O'Dowd will see that no evil befalls me here, but he refuses to help me to get away. I quite understand and appreciate his position. I cannot ask him to go so far as that. Help."

"Hello! How Are You This Morning?"

will have to come from the outside. It will be dangerous—terribly dangerous—"

"You say O'Dowd will not assist you to escape?"

"He urges me to stay here and take my chances. He believes that everything will turn out well for me in the end, but I am frightened. I must get away from this place."

"Then keep your eyes and ears open for the next night or two. Can you tell me where your room is located?"

"It is one night up; the first of the two windows in my room is the third to the right of the entrance. I am confident that someone is stationed below my window all night long."

"You still insist that I am not to call on the authorities for help?"

"Yes, yes! That must not even be considered. I have not only myself to consider, Mr. Barnes. I am a very small store in—"

"All right! We'll get along without them," he said cheerily. "Afterward we will discuss the importance of atoms."

"And your reward as well, Mr. Barnes," she said. Her voice trailed off into an indistinct murmur. He heard the receiver click on the hook, and after calling "hello" twice hung up his own with a sigh. Evidently O'Dowd had warned her of the approach of a less considerate person than himself.

CHAPTER XIII

The Second Wayfarer Receives Two Visitors at Midnight.

The corner's inquest over the bodies of Reon and Paul was held that afternoon at St. Elizabeth. Witnesses from Hart's Tavern were among those to testify. The verdict was "Murder at the hands of parties unknown."

Spruise did not appear at the Tavern until long after midnight. The secret agent listened somewhat indifferently to the latter's account of his telephonic experiences. At nine o'clock he yawned prodigiously and announced that he was going to bed, greatly to the surprise of Mr. Barnes, who followed him from the taproom and demanded an explanation.

"People usually go to bed at night, don't they?" said Spruise patiently. "It is expected, I believe."

"But, my dear man, we are to undertake—"

"I have some cause for believing that one of those chaps in there is from Green Fancy. Go to bed at ten o'clock, my friend, and put out your light. I don't insist on your taking off your clothes, however. I will rap on your door at eleven o'clock. By the way, don't forget to stick your revolver in your pocket."

A few minutes before eleven there came a gentle tapping on Barnes' door. He sprang to his feet and opened it, presenting himself before Spruise fully dressed and, as the secret agent said later on "fit to kill."

The night was as black as pitch. Barnes, trusting to the little man's eyes and hanging close upon his coat-tails, followed blindly but gallantly in the tracks of the leader. It seemed to him that they stumbled along parallel to the road for miles before Spruise came to a halt. "This is the short cut to Green Fancy," he whispered, laying his hand on Barnes' arm. "We save four or five miles, coming this way. Do you know where we are?"

"I haven't the remotest idea."

"About a quarter of a mile below Curtis house. Are you all right?"

"Fine as a fiddle, except for a barked knee and a skinned elbow, a couple of more or less busted ribs. I've banged into more trees than—"

"Sh!" After a moment of silence, intensified by the mournful squawk of night birds and the chorus of katydids, Spruise whispered, "Did you hear that?"

Barnes thrilled. This was real melodrama. "Hear what?" he whispered shilly.

"Listen!" After a second or two "There!"

"It's a woodpecker hammering on the limb of a—"

"Woodpeckers don't hammer at night, my lad. Don't stir! Keep your ears close."

Spruise clutched his companion's arm and, dropping to his knees in the thick underbrush, pulled the other down after him.

Presently heavy footsteps approached. An unseen pedestrian passed within ten yards of them. They scarcely breathed until the sounds passed entirely out of hearing. Spruise put his lips close to Barnes' ear.

"Telegraph," he whispered. "It's a system they have of reporting to each other. There are two men patrolling the grounds near the house. You see what we're up against, Barnes. Do you still want to go on with it?"

"I'll stay by you," replied Barnes sturdily.

Several minutes went by. There was not a sound save the restless patter of rain in the tree tops. At last the faraway thud of footsteps came to the ears of the tense listener. They drew nearer, louder and once more seemed to be approaching the very spot where he crouched.

Then came the sound of a dull, heavy blow a hoarse gasp, a momentary commotion in the shrubbery, and—again silence. Barnes' blood ran cold. He waited for the next foothold of the passing man. It never came. A sharp whisper reached his ears. "Come here—quick!"

He floundered through the brush and almost fell prostrate over the kneeling figure of a man.

"Take care! Lend a hand," whispered Spruise.

According to a statement of a resident of the vicinity of the plant a delegation of citizens was to be on hand last evening to watch developments. One person appeared in the hallway outside the council room but none ventured into the chamber. It was said before the meeting that if steps are not taken to remedy what is declared to be a nuisance a court injunction will be sought.

Later during the evening Dr. Utte's garbage ordinance, revised to conform to the rates now being charged for garbage removal and with a clause providing that garbage removal contractors shall pay in advance a license fee of $150 per year, was introduced. These were the only changes in the former ordinance. The rates specified in the measure are those that have been charged for several months; since the time Dr. Utte announced continuation of the old rates meant a loss to the contractor and at which time council verbally agreed to advances which Dr. Utte announced he intended to put into effect.

DICKERSON RUN RAILWAY OFFICIAL IS GIVEN WATCH

Two Hundred Men Join in Fine Testimonial to Foreman M. J. O'Laughlin.

R. R. ROBERTS SPOKESMAN

James Beatty, of Inspection Force, Presides at Gathering and Speeches Are Made by Mr. O'Laughlin and His Successor in Office, F. H. Stark.

Special to The Courier. DICKERSON RUN, April 14.—Two hundred men of the cars shops at Dickerson Run held a meeting at the shops Saturday and presented a fine watch, chain and charm to their retiring general foreman, M. J. O'Laughlin.

James Beatty of the inspection force acted as president of the meeting and in his opening remarks said:

"Ladies, gentlemen and fellow workers. We have met here this afternoon to pay our respects to one who came among us 13 months ago. That one is our worthy foreman, Mr. O'Laughlin, who is about to leave us for other fields of labor. We feel while here he has been one of us. While our railway has not always been rosy by any means, we feel that in his duty as our foreman he has treated us fairly as men to men. We feel that he has played no favorites and has had no pet. He has tried to make out justice and right to all."

"Since his sojourn among us many friendships have been formed which will never be forgotten. The old saying is that the best of friends must part. I must say we are sorry for the parting, and in conclusion I know I voice the sentiments of the men when I say we wish you luck and every success in your new position."

The first speaker introduced by the president was Lloyd Shallenberger, chief clerk of the air inspectors, who spoke for ten minutes. In his talk he cited the good qualities of Mr. O'Laughlin and said he knew that the best of feeling existed between the men.

R. R. Roberts, of Mr. O'Laughlin's clerical force, made the presentation speech.

Mr. O'Laughlin, after accepting the gift, introduced F. H. Stark, the new general foreman, and solicited the cooperation of all as it had been given him. Mr. Stark spoke briefly.

Mr. O'Laughlin has been transferred to the car shops at McKees Rocks. Get your property insured. See L. K. Byers, Vanderbilt fire insurance agency. Leading companies. Prompt service. Only actual direct agency in the town.—Ad-15-11.

James Beatty, Sr., of Vanderbilt, who has been in bad health all winter, has taken a trip to Oklahoma in the hope that his health will improve. He will spend a few weeks with Mr. and Mrs. George Beatty. He made the trip last summer and was greatly benefited. He expects to be gone several months and will visit relatives and friends in Kansas and Illinois. Mr. Beatty is 74 years old, but will make the trip alone.

Mrs. Harry Byers, Mrs. J. C. Durbin and Mr. and Mrs. George Workman were shopping in Pittsburgh Saturday.

Big Stocks on Hand and Business Depression

Here's a great opportunity for bargains. We have just passed through the greatest business boom ever in the history of our stores; we prepared for a continuation of it and here we are in the midst of a business depression, which means loss of business, no demand, and big stocks on hand. We merely call your attention to this so that you will understand there are now wonderful opportunities for big bargains at our stores. The goods are all bought right, prices are right, and the stocks must be reduced. It would be a great advantage to people living in nearby towns or in the rural sections, to patronize our stores. There is no doubt about the assortment of stock, the quality of the stock, no doubt about prices—we are lower than cost competition. This not only applies to foodstuffs but every other department in our stores, particularly dry goods, shoes, furniture, furnishings, etc. For furniture and house furnishings you will do better at our stores. Bear in mind that we operate regular department stores, most anything you can think of for sale, and every department now overloaded full tilt. It is a bargain time, a money-saving opportunity, and would be to your interest to visit and buy from the nearest store in your locality.
